One day I was walking and came across a box with a kitten in it. The box was too high for the kitten to escape and he just laid there dejected and seemingly out of life. I wondered what kind of cruel person could do this.

I gently lifted the kitten out of the box and placed him on the ground in front of me and lo and behold it was like he was transformed! His eyes widened and he was full of life just like any normal kitten!

What about your marketing and advertising efforts on the internet? Are you stuck in a box?

You know, that small world you created for yourself as a newbie, where you do the same things over and over again whether they work or not.

Why not trying something different for a change? Step outside of the box you created for yourself.

That kitten had no choice being in the box because of some idiot.

But, you created the box you're living in online right now. Step outside of it and you will feel the joy that kitten had when a whole new world was opened up to him!

Try some different advertising and marketing techniques. Learn as much as you can how to market on the internet from books, online courses, your upline etc.

Study the big marketers on the internet. See what they are doing, what tools they are using, how they write sales copy on their websites, where and how they are advertising etc.

Don't be afraid of change! You will find not only yourself growing as a person by doing this but your income as well.

And... speaking of growing.... you know that little kitten I was talking about?

Well... he's now a cat... and his name is Damien... and he's been a joy in my life for four years now.

I helped him out of his box and in turn he helped me out of mine.

I hope he can do the same for you!

Happy Marketing!
