Money-making on the Internet is not an easy task. Selling on the WEB is not the same as selling OFFLINE. It's a fact that some marketers don't make money at all even though they do know about the above things.

Having a realistic attitude and being a positive thinker does not always bring success. You need to be persistent in whatever you want to accomplish and more than that, if you want to make money online, then you need to put into practice everything that you learn.

How do you think successful marketers like those featured at <http://bizmarketingresources.com> became so wealthy?

Not all of them have started their business on a shoestring budget. Mostly learned 'everything' through trial and error.

Here's how to become a Successful Internet Marketer in 3 easy steps and earn big like the cyber-stars do:

1. Turn your Internet Business into a full-time job.

Whatever you do online for earning money, always be sure you have enough time to dedicate to it so you can make profits.

You can still work part-time and earn as much as working full-time if you know HOW to convince others to advertise your products for you:

2. Train yourself and search for help

You can't succeed if you don't know how others in your field already did it. Learn as much as you can from high quality web sites that offer materials you could need (e.g. eBooks, eCourses, articles etc.) OR ask others to help you. Don't underestimate the power of using emails, message boards, chat rooms...

3. Define your market and sell to it

The most important part of your business is to know who your target audience is, then try to sell your products to it.

You should always create an original product and have a Unique Selling Position (the way you market it on the Internet).

Your USP is vital in your business because it defines how different your product or service is and separate it from the others.

If you sell exactly 'the same' product like others do, you'll have a hard task to accomplish, so try to be unique in your marketing efforts (creating, selling and promoting products or services).
