So you have decided to start your own online business. You feel pretty comfortable about using a computer and the Internet and you have heard so much about how others have made millions on the Net and you want some of those millions too!

Well if you are thinking that just creating a website “and they will come” or creating a product and just making it available, and “it will sell itself “then you are in for a surprise. There is some real honest work associated with creating and most importantly marketing (actually getting it seen) your own online enterprise.

Is it worth it? Yes, while it may mean, some long hard hours in the beginning while you learn all the tools, systems and products that are available on the Internet. It is well worth it. Ask yourself these questions:

Where else can you apply a small investment of money (from zero to a few hundred dollars) and end up with residual profits on multiple streams of income?

Where else can you eventually put your business on autopilot so that you can have true freedom to work when and where you like?

Where else can the “little guy (gal)” equally compete amongst giant companies in a market that is so huge and is open 24/7 (24 hours a day and 7 days a week)?

The answers of course are nowhere else on the planet do we have such a growing market with such incredible easy access.

So how do you get started?

Well be ready for some reading and studying while you begin “burning the learning curve” and see how all the different ways you have to create and market your online enterprise(s). Look at what your objectives and goals are?

What results do you want to have?

How do you want your new life to be?

How much time will you dedicate to this new life?

How much money do you really need, want and desire?

Write these answers down and begin at least a quick small plan. I say "quick" because as John Lennon once said " Life is that which passes you by as you make plans for it". you need to plan and focus your attention but don't get hung up in the planning either.

Without some kind of plan though, it is like running a race without a course or finish line. you never know if you are on the right path or when when have arrived.

Now many people like myself wanted to get started ASAP but didn't really know it what direction to go. to start with digital publishing, like ezines and ebooks, or network marketing, affiliate programs just to name a few. Well if you would like a little help and guidance from those that make their living on the Internet keep reading.

If you really want to create great wealth on the Internet be prepared to do what the "Gurus" like Cory Rudl, Jim Daniels, Mark Joyner, Mike Chen, Stone Evans and many, many others do. Create several income streams by diversifying and having several different businesses, websites and products that help one another.

**Truth** This will become easier and easier as you continue to learn and sharpen your marketing skills and test what works. It really is not that difficult to understand it just a little time and focused attention to catch up to the rest.

I remember when I began it was overwhelming the products, services and tools that were available then, and with the speed of the Internet's growth there are new ones everyday. How to make sense of all this?

Now there is a great way to get started where you can "Earn while you Learn". You can purchase a turnkey website these days that comes ready made, with all the tools in place with many extra products and services all ready for you to market.

You will learn about websites, traffic, HTML, digital products and tools like opt-in lists, banner ads, search engines, auto responders, ezines, network marketing, ebooks, and many other wonderful systems and tools as you begin to use your turn key business.

**Truth** You may not get rich on this one enterprise (however many have) but YOU CAN begin to "Earn while you Learn" how it is all done. In fact in many of these systems if you just recruit just a couple of other people to do the same, your system including the web hosting can be free!

So before you set yourself up for failure and try to do what many others have already failed at. Give yourself a fighting chance to get started and maybe try a turnkey system that fits your needs.

Best wishes and hope to hear from you soon, James A. Glover
