Turn Your ScreenSaver Into Worldwide Traffic Generating Slaves?
by Rob MacCurry

Most free advertising is worth exactly what you pay for it.

Nada,zip,zilch. In plain English:

Nothing.

But the other day I happened upon an incredibly easy, completely free, completely automated system you can use to promote any website in the world.

Best of all, you can set it up in about thirty seconds, and immediately start to see traffic to your site. It's called ScreenBlaze, and it uses your screensaver to generate traffic to your site.

I laughed it off at first, but since it was quick and free, I gave it a shot.

Here's how it works:

#1. Go to the ScreenBlaze site

<http://supersystem.i8.com/ScreenBlaze.html>

#2. Download your free ScreenSaver. It will automatically add itself to your list of screensavers in the "Display" area of your Windows Control Panel.

#3 Enter the url you want to promote into the "My Site" tab and select the category of users which you want to display your url to!

#4 Set your screensaver options in the "Display" area of your Windows Control Panel. If I am busy working on my computer, I set ScreenBlaze to display after 45 minutes.

But here's where it gets really good! If I have to be away from my computer, I set the display interval to one minute.

Here's what happens:

Well there's a page on my site that got ZERO hits yesterday. (I hadn't optimized it for SE yet or linked it to anything on my sites. It was an opportunity I had just completed most of the copy for).

I had breakfast, played a round of golf, had dinner, and went to bed. The next morning I went to my office, took care of some faxes and looked over at my computer. I logged in to web host's site stats and found my un-optimized url had 143 unique visitors in one day.

Like I said, its free, and with referrals 10 level deep, you can imagine how much traffic you can generate once you get a few referrals. As a matter of fact, I have ScreenBlaze set to my Casino affiliate link, and have received over 3,437 displays of my ad at <http://supersystem.i8.com/casino.html>
