

Don't ruin your marriage for the love of your computer.

By Vern Anderson

Don't ruin your marriage for the love of your computer.

Vern Anderson
vern@marketingnewsnewsletter.com

Marketing News Newsletter <http://www.marketingnewsnewsletter.com/cgi-bin/mmf/>

My very first article was this one
This Wonderful thing we call the World Wide Web

I know a lot of you remember it. It told it like most of us are doing, but now there is a new twist that I am concerned with.

Have you started neglecting your spouse? Is your spouse telling you they are lonesome in the middle of the day?

These are warning signs that our trying so hard to be a success on our computers is starting to interfere with our marriage.

Have you heard yourself telling your spouse, lighten up I am not spending all my time on the computer. You know I still love you, it's just that I need to get this web page finished or this newsletter done.

I know I said I would clean today and also wash the car, it's just that these things popped up and I needed to take care of them fast.

I am sorry I have no dinner ready let's just order pizza again. Oh I know you are getting tired of pizza and as soon as I get caught up on these computer things I will start cooking again.

Sorry I did not get the lawn mowed today, I will get it tomorrow as soon as I read all of my email messages.

I know we missed the movie you were wanting very badly
to see, but next time we will go I promise.

You go on to bed I have a few things I must finish on my newsletter and then I will come to bed.

Sorry I did not get to see you off to work, but I worked so late on my web page I didn't wake up.

Does this sound familiar, if so you are the one that need to wake up. If you forget your spouse sooner or later they will start forgetting you.

Don't ruin your marriage for the love of your computer.

God go with you.

Article Copyright 2001
Vern Anderson

<mailto:subscribe@marketingnewsnewsletter.com>

Receive Million Dollar Emails, Free ebooks, free software!

<http://www.marketingnewsnewsletter.co>

Get-Articles.com : 1000's of reprintable business and internet marketing-related articles.

Submit your article for reprint.